

Now that we have just come to the end of our first 5 weeks back at school, I'm delighted to be seeing so much productivity around school. I've had the chance this week to visit a couple of classrooms and have a look through some books. The children have lots to be proud of as there is some incredible evidence of their learning in these books. Also this week, myself and Miss James were fortunate enough to take our Top 10 fundraisers from last year's penalty shootout and club colours day to Elland Road. We all had an amazing time there and had VIP access to lots of unseen areas in the ground which was very exciting.

On a final note, please can we ask that all parents are making sure their children attend school in coats. We're seeing lots of children still arriving without them and with the weather rapidly changing and temperatures dropping, this will limit their opportunities outside should they not come to school in one.
